

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS / DOMESTIC

Hard Brexit would be good news for SA citrus exporters

08 Apr 2019 - by Staff reporter

">As the Brexit debate drags on, the final outcome is anyone's guess.

">But with a "hard Brexit" becoming more and more likely, there's good news for citrus exporters.

">According to Justin Chadwick, CEO of the Citrus Growers' Association, under such a scenario for exporters supplying citrus to the UK all citrus tariffs will reduce to zero. "Citrus fruit exported from South Africa would thus enter the UK at 0% duty throughout the year," he said.