

South Africa

INSIDER GOLD

South Africa hopeful that US trade pact Agoa will survive

There has been no public update from the US on the state of negotiations.

By Jennifer Zabasajja and Michael J. Kavanagh, Bloomberg · 25 Sep 2025 ⌚ 07:21

Image: GCIS

South Africa's trade minister said he was hopeful a trade pact giving many African countries preferential access to the US market will be extended ahead of its expiry later this year.

"We haven't given up on it," Parks Tau told Bloomberg Television in New York on Tuesday.

Subscribe to read this article...

Get full access to our award-winning articles, email alerts and market data tools. You can cancel any time.

R70/month or ~~R840~~ R700/year

SUBSCRIBE NOW

SIGN IN

 Download our app. Moneyweb

TAGS: AGOA | BLACK ECONOMIC EMPOWERMENT LAWS | DONALD TRUMP | JAMIESON GREER | TRADE WARS

